New PROTECTA® REBEL™ 6 m web Self-Retracting Lifeline from Capital Safety

Nice, France — June 2011 - Capital Safety, home of the DBI-SALA and PROTECTA brands of fall protection equipment, introduces the new PROTECTA REBEL 6 m web Self-Retracting Lifeline (SRL).

This new model ref: 3101041 offers major new features to the customer:

- Very lightweight : only 1.6 kg for a lifeline length of 6 m. This reduced weight is a major advantage for users that often are required to transport the SRL between work locations.
- Rugged Nylon Casing: The risk of damage to sensitive structures such as painted surfaces, tiled roofs, aeronautic wings and wind mills is greatly reduced due to the unit's thermoplastic housing design.

These are not the only interesting features of this block. Indeed this block integrates the unique patented Capital Safety anti-ratcheting brake system ensuring that after a fall, the worker will never be ratcheted down to the ground.

The external tear web style energy absorber serves as a visual fall indicator and allows the product to be easily inspected annually, requiring only a visual inspection by a competent person.

This block is ideal for applications like utilities, tile roof work, tower work, scaffolding, outdoor advertisement or aeronautic maintenance.
